ABOUT

This project is a self-initiated rebrand for Rollna, a cinnamon roll bakery/cafe I visited in Belgrade-Serbia.

During my visit, I couldn't help but to notice how disconnected the assets felt. Menu, package and even the poster outside. They all felt like they could be from different brands.

WHY HAVING A COHESIVE BRAND MATTER?

While it may not directly impact daily sales, having a cohesive brand identity is crucial for long-term success.

Consistent visuals, tone, and messaging help customers recognize and trust the brand across all platforms.

This sense of familiarity builds credibility, strengthens loyalty, and sets the brand apart from competitors, making it more memorable over time.
